

Sean Cogdell is CEO of The Panther Group, a diverse, minority-owned staffing firm providing personal attention on a national scale to deliver the right talent, efficient staffing strategies and cost-effective results. TPG provides workforce management with custom recruitment services and connects top talent with our Partners throughout North and Central America.

Sean completed his MBA at Iona College in New York and is a Certified Public Accountant. He has worked for Fortune 50 multinational corporations, as a CPA on Wall Street, and with the Federal Government in his more than 30 years of professional life.

Sean became CEO of Panther in March 2016 after the acquisition of Panther Global Group, Total Technical Services, Total Clerical Services and Panther Global Managed Services. These four companies were consolidated and rebranded as The Panther Group on January 1, 2017.